The Federation decided to recommend the observance of a Twentieth Century Week of Prayer among the Christian people of Wheeling and vicinity, the week to begin on the first Sunday of the new century, January 6. The following call was issued: Call to Prayer:—At a meeting of the Federation of Churches, when the subject of the religious condition of our city and churches was discussed, it was unanimously agreed that we observe in all of our churches the Week of Prayer, beginnings with the first Sunday. In the new year, and that this week be a week for apecial prayer for our city and our churches. This communication, prepared by authenty of the Federation of Churches seeks to emphasize the need of this concerted movement, and especially to tirge on all our churches to humble themselves before Almightly God and to cry mightily unto Him for His blesseing. "For a knew the thoughts that I think toward you," saith this Lord, thoughts of peace and the control of t

I unto thee."
We urge upon our officers, our Sunday theol teachers, the heads of familleses, upon every member of our respective mgregations to observe, this week of rayer. Then shall our efforts for the universion of staners be rewarded, and prayer. Then shall our efforts for the conversion of sinners be rewarded, and God will "open unto us the windows of heaven and pour out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." It is urged that this call be read in all our churches on Sunday, December 2, and that it be printed in our city papers.

TOPICS OF THE SCHOOLS.

At a general meeting of the teachers of Ritchie school, Superintendent Anderson read a number of questions that had been handed to him by teachers and principals, a few of which were discussed. The first question was What is the best way to help pupils to get clear of the habit of whispering. Quite a number of the teachers gave opinions on the subject. One suggestion was to have stated periods for whispering: another was to regulate it, i. allow it if the school was not disturbed thereby. All agreed that the teacher must get the pupils to see the necessity of not doing anything to disturb the school in any of its exercises. The question "To what extent are teachers expected to pay attention to the rules governing them?" was answered by the superintendent by saying that the rules laid down by the board were to be obeyed to the very letter. "When is a teacher tardy?" The rule on the subject is as follows: "Teachers are required to be in their respective school rooms is as follows: "Teagins are squares to be in their respective school rooms twenty-five minutes before the specified lime for opening school in the morning and at the first ringing of the bell. in the efternoon and they shall open their rooms for the reception of papils at the first ringing of the bell." This answers the question. Quite a number of other questions were presented and discussed. It is the general opinion of the teachers that, the meeting was one of the best ever held and all would like to have many more such. One point made by the superintendent is worthy the consideration of every teacher and that is that pupils generally do pretty much as they are allowed to do by the teacher. At first glance we may not think this is correct, and rising the teachers may be ready to deny that they allow disorder in the school from, but it is true all tho game. For if not allowed, there would be no disorder. Our schools real its what the teacher makes them. "Like teacher er, like school" is just us true to-day a when the words were first uttered.

A Good Institute.

The Pedagogue has received the an-nouncement of the forty-seventh, annual session of the Fayette County nual session of the Fayette County (Pa.) Teachers' institute to be held in the Grand Opera. House, Uniontown, Pa., during the present week. John S. Carroll, of Dunbaf, is the county super-intendent. To show the scope of the Institute work in that county the list of instructors is given below; Day instructors, Hon. Nathan C. Schaffer, Harrisburg, Pa.; Hon. W. W. Stetson, Augusta, Me.; Dr. Charles H. Albert, Hloomshurg, Pa.; Hon. W. W. Stetson, Augusta, Me.; Dr. Charles H. Albert, Hloomshurg, Pa.; Dr. Francis H. Green, West Chester, Pa.; Dr. Robert A. Armstrong, Morgantown, W. Va.; Dr. F. B. Dyer, Madisonville, O.; Dr. G. G. Kerr, Seabright, Pa. Musical directors, Prof. S. G. Smith, Columbus, Ohio; soloists, Miss Mary E. Dikon, Wheeling, W. Va., and Miss Helen Bryce Markell, Connellsyille, Pa.; violinist, Miss Louise M. Taylor, Canada: planist, Miss Caroline Beeson, Uniontown, Pa. For evening lectures and eritertalniments are Hon. Lou Fairchild, New York; Hon. Johnathan R. Dolliver, Fort Dodge, Iowa; General Z. T. Sweeney, Columbus, Ohio, and the Boston Laddes' Symphony Orrhestra.

There is certainly a week of profit and enloyment in store for the teachers of this county. The county superintendent expects an enrollment of at least 500 teachers. It is seen that West Vjrginia is well represented on the programme. (Pa.) Teachers' institute to be held in

Then and Now.

The writer cannot help contrasting matters, educationally, in our state with what they were twenyt-five years ago. Then institutes as conducted at present, were just beginning to be held present, were just beginning to be held throughout the state and very few of our own teachers would attempt to act as instructors. The instructors generally came from other states. Some of them knew what our teachers needed and their instructions did much good; others were men who needed instructing themselves. But all this has passed away. A generation of teachers have grown up since then and we are now able to send men to other states and they compare very favorably with the very best. All this is just as it should be. No state can educate itself properly. It is not well to be exclusive. This led to a bloody war in our country once. The different sections of our country once. The different sections of our country once. our country ought to mingle with each other more than has been done in the years that are past. We need to know what our sister states are doing, educationally as well as in other lines. We are one country and from now on we must allow no geographical lines to separate us. Americans all, we must work out our destiny together. One country, one people, and one fing, and that flag the best of all flags.

An Incurable Malady.

As the holidays approach, the children's minds are so full of Santa Claus that it is almost an impossibility to get their minds properly settled on their books. These things need not trouble the teacher, but they should give her a chance to teach many useful lessons, that cannot be so well taught at any other time of year. Teachers, we can other time of year. Teachers, we can remember when away back in our lives (away back with many, not so far with others), how we liked to have Christmas come. How we used to love to listen to the stories of the Christ Child and receive the little presents, small though they might be, and, if we even believed there was a real, live, sure nough Santa Claus, it did us no harm. Let all the sunshine possible come into the lives of the children, for the clouds will come all too soon. So let the children will come all too soon. So let the children will come all too soon. So let the chil dren have a joyous time, even in school, before the coming of the happy vacation days. Far better this than to have them believe that all this talk about the Christmas patron saint is but a myth. For there is a Santa Claus and we all believe it.

University Term Closes.

The state university at Morgantowin losed its fall term on Friday last and the winter term does not open again until the second day of the new century. This will give all a chance to spend over two weeks at home. All the Wheeling students have returned to enjoy their vacation.

The New Century.

As when the Wheeling schools close they will not open again until after he dawn of the twentieth century, will the teachers return to their work with a determination of doing better work, during the first days of the new century than they have done during the closing days of the old? The writer sometimes tries to imagine what our schools will be or may be by the close of the twentieth century, if they progress during the entire hundred years as they have done even in the last quarter of the inhetenth century. Can they improve as they have done? If so we can but imagine what the outcome may be. One thing our schools must do may be. One thing our schools must do for the world at large; they must teach mankind to learn the art of war no more. We must teach that humanity that will make all the peoples of this great round world a band of brothers, is this expecting too much? There is to some such a time in the history of the come such a time in the history of the race, and our schools have their part to do in bringing it about. May it be hastened, for it is not right that civilized man should stay his fellow man.
